What is Typelt4Me?

Typelt4Me is a text expander. It was the first of its kind developed for the Mac and is still under active development, over 30 years on from its inception.

Text expansion is on-the-fly substitution of short typed abbreviations with longer 'snippets' of content. These can include lengthy words, phrases, boilerplate texts or even pictures, dynamically generated dates and time stamps. Wherever you type a shorthand abbreviation you've defined, Typelt4Me will instantly replace it with its corresponding snippet. This works almost anywhere you can type on your Mac.

Find yourself typing the same things over and over? Build up a set of abbreviations and the full text or image snippets that they represent. Typelt4Me will save you time and keystrokes by automatically expanding them while you continue typing. All you have to do is leave it running in the background.

Things Typelt4Me can help you type out more quickly include:

- People's names, email addresses and other contact details
- Commonly repeated phrases (tgn → That's great news! etc)
- Awkwardly lengthy, hard to spell technical terms
- Boilerplate texts (e.g. standard legal contract clauses)

Typelt4Me features

Abbreviate the things you type most frequently

Use Typelt4Me to automatically expand your own personal custom-defined shorthand. Find yourself using the word “qualifications” a lot? Why not just type “quls” and let Typelt4Me do the rest? Keep lengthy words, phrases boilerplate texts and pictures on tap, ready to insert in an instant when you need them.

Correct the typos that usually trip you up

AppleSpell is limited to correcting dictionary words. Add all of your most common misspellings to your Typelt4Me abbreviations list, then type as fast as you like, leaving Typelt4Me to instantly fix those mangled mistakes as you go along. Never mistype your important Hungarian client’s name again :)

Effortlessly insert dates and times

Find dates fiddly to type and even harder to remember? Define an abbreviation that automatically inserts today’s date for you. Typelt4Me can even perform date and time math, using arithmetical formulae to insert a date that’s, say, two weeks from now without you having to work out what it will be.

Sync with iCloud Drive and more

Use the same snippets on multiple Macs and keep them in sync. Organize your snippets into sets and you’ll have the option to store sets in iCloud Drive, Dropbox, Google Drive or a shared network folder for easy syncing. Typelt4Me 6 can also share snippets via iCloud with the related Typelt4Me Touch notepad app for iOS / iPadOS (available as a separate purchase from Apple’s App Store).

AutoCue: fill-in-the-blanks placeholder prompts

Autocue is a great time-saving feature that’s popular with power users. It enables you to set up templates containing placeholder prompts (“cues”) for you to replace with corresponding text or data when a particular abbreviation is expanded.

Run Applescripts when you type shortcuts

Create a new snippet, paste an Applescript into it and you’ll be able to execute that script just by typing a keyboard shortcut. Want to type “om” to make your Mac launch the Mail app and announce “Opening Mail” in a robotic voice? Typelt4Me makes that possible.

FAQs

How much does Typelt4Me 6 usually cost?

A standard single Typelt4Me user licence costs $19.99 (USD) / £19.99 / 19,99€.

Upgrading from an older version of Typelt4Me costs $8.99 (USD) / £8.99 / 8,99€.

Volume discount pricing ranging from 20% off to 70% off is available.

Does Typelt4Me 6 require a subscription?

No. The cost of a user licence is a one-time payment. When you buy a Typelt4Me licence, the app is yours to keep and use as you see fit, for as long as you like. The licence is generally good for about 3 years' worth of free minor version (i.e. 6.x.x) updates. Major paid upgrades are optional and come along roughly once every 3-5 years. Single user upgrade licences are usually priced at $8.99 for all registered customers.

What are the System Requirements for Typelt4Me?

Typelt4Me 6 requires a Mac running at least macOS 10.11 (El Capitan) or newer.

What's the difference between the Typelt4Me available directly from Ettore Software and the Typelt4Me available on the Mac App Store?

Typelt4Me 6 is available as a free 30-day trial and can be purchased directly from the Ettore Software website. It includes more features and its UI differs a little from the Mac App Store Typelt4Me. Both support the same macOS systems. The Mac App Store version can no longer receive any new features; Apple prohibits non-sandboxed software available on the App Store from being developed further. We continue to make the legacy version available on the Mac App Store for anyone who prefers the convenience of purchasing from Apple. Customers wishing to upgrade from that version can do so free of charge by emailing us their Mac App Store receipt from Apple as proof of purchase. We will then issue a licence code for Typelt4Me 6, which can be downloaded from the Ettore Software website.
